

Radice Chair

Radice, a three-legged wooden stool, is a creation of Sam Hecht /Industrial Facility . Radice finds its underlying beauty and simplicity in its structure. It brings together of what appears the front, half of a traditional 4-legged stool, with a single back leg- the root, with no screws or metal fittings. The backrest is small and reassuring, allowing a coat or handbag to rest on it; and the seat is open for large and small people. The coloured wood stain options for Radice are based on the cycle of an autumn leaf turning colour.
