It's hard to believe the extraordinary circumstances we are all facing at the moment. We are navigating challenges that we've never encountered before but ones we'll undoubtedly get through together.

With the help of our dedicated team we are adjusting to a new normal at District. We are trying to keep as close to business as usual, whilst focusing on protecting the health and well-being of our employees, clients and suppliers.

Majority of our team are working from home and our showrooms are currently open by appointment only if required.

We are well set-up to keep things running smoothly and you can still reach us through the normal channels eg: phone, email, social media, zoom etc:.

We know that we need to stick together while keeping apart, although our team are at home we are staying in touch, as we want to do with you, now more than ever is the time to connect with each other.

We are lucky enough to work with extremely supportive international and local suppliers who we are communicating with daily in regards to updates and product availability.

This situation changes daily so we are going to keep you updated regularly with our supplier's situations, as well as providing you with product and information that may be helpful during this period.

Please speak to us, tell us what you need, how we can work together and lets work collectively to get through these challenging times.

We want to help our community where we can, so please contact our team and we will do our best to help.

Most importantly please stay safe.
